Geoff Marks asks :-

In its response to the Government's Draft Aviation Policy Framework, Rushmoor maintain that Farnborough Airport is effectively a 'Regional Airport',and questions why the Draft Framework excludes the application to Farnborough of the section related to regional airports. I am advised that an airport can only be designated a 'Regional Airport' if it conducts 'Air Transport' operations. The question is whether Rushmoor, in raising this matter, foresee any circumstances in which it would be minded to allow 'Air Transport' operations at Farnborough airport?
